Summary

The Youth Justice Worker provides support, supervision, and service co-ordination to youth and their families referred by local probation officers in accordance with Ministry guidelines. The focus is on assisting the youth in developing healthy functioning in education, work, family, and community settings.

Essential Duties and Responsibilities

To perform the job successfully a program worker must be able to perform consistently each essential duty satisfactorily. Other duties may be assigned.

- Prepare, in consultation with and subject to the approval of the supervising probation officer, a detailed plan of supervision and support activities within a set time frame.
- Monitor compliance with the terms and conditions of community supervision, including, where applicable, random and periodic curfew checks.
- Report all known instances of the young person's non-compliance with the conditions of community supervision to the supervising probation officer or directly to the police, the latter being subject to locally established protocols or pre-authorized approval of the supervising probation officer.
- May be required to provide a statement and/or appear in court as a witness.
- Work flexible hours including weekends and evenings to accommodate program and client needs.

- Support the young person's participation in required or voluntary rehabilitation and intervention programs, e.g. addictions counselling, youth forensic treatment, Youth Substance Abuse Management Program, Youth Violence Intervention Program, life skills, social skills, etc.
- Assist the young person in complying with reparative conditions of the court order such as community or personal service, compensation or apology to the victim.
- Maintain ongoing contact with parent/caregivers, providing advice and assistance, including a range of counselling techniques, mediation and, as required, crisis intervention in order to maintain family integrity and residence stability.
- Identify, introduce, and integrate recreational, social and/or cultural activities, which will support the young person's participation in such activities and facilitate the young person's disengagement from anti-social peers and activities.
- Act as an advocate, mentor, and pro-social role model to the young person.
- Facilitate and support the young person's ongoing participation in school, training or employment.
- Link the young person with ongoing, non-governmental community supports, e.g. community mentors, volunteers, church groups, youth support groups, etc.
- Work collaboratively with the supervising probation officer, young person, parents/caregivers, and all relevant professionals and service providers involved with the young person through integrated case management.
- Work within a team model; however, program delivery warrants working alone without constant supervision.
- Provide the supervising probation officer with monthly reports and immediate notification about critical incidents.
- Represent the agency in the community when required, and maintain healthy relationships with other helping organizations, and the community at large.
- Offer and receive support to and from co-workers as part of a team providing integrated, holistic services to youth and families.
- Follow policy and procedures, complete reports, and attend meetings as required by the Ministry for Children and Family Development and The John Howard Society of North Island.

Qualifications

The requirements listed below detail the knowledge, skill and/or ability required to perform the essential duties of the job.

Education and Experience

- Two (2) year diploma in a related human/social services field

- Two (2) years related experience which should include:
 - Experience in providing support and supervision to high-risk youth who may be violent and may be participating in a non-voluntary program in a community based setting
 - Experience in providing crisis intervention
 - Knowledge of, and experience with, the Youth Criminal Justice Act and youth corrections

Case Management Skills

- Demonstrated ability to work constructively and co-operatively in a team setting
 - Excellent communication and interpersonal skills
 - Knowledge of, and experience in, involving families, community, youth corrections, and other systems in case planning with youth
 - Knowledge and experience with case recording practices
 - Knowledge and experience with referral, screening, and case conferencing practices
 - Knowledge of community resources for youth and families
- Or an equivalent combination of education, training and experience

Other Skills and Abilities

Worker must:

- Demonstrate a level of cultural sensitivity and understanding of the client population's cultural and socio-economic characteristics.
- Have the ability to form a mutually respectful partnership with persons served and their families in which they are helped to gain skills and confidence to address any issues and problems they face.
- Have the ability to accept the differences they will find among their clients.
- Accept clients' rights to self-determination and individuality, and must not discriminate on the basis of Indigenous identity, race, colour, ancestry, place of origin, political belief, religion, socio-economic status, marital status, family status, physical or mental disability, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or age.
- Have a positive conviction about the capacity of people to grow and change.
- Have the ability to work respectfully in partnership with other team members, including referring authorities.
- Recognize the value of a nurturing family as the ideal environment for a person.
- Worker must have the ability to recognize persons with special needs, and make appropriate referrals.
- Have the ability to set limits and maintain the helping role for the practitioner and to intervene appropriately to meet the needs of the persons served or other family members.
- Have basic computer and Internet skills.

Other Job Requirements

- The program worker may be involved in coordinating and/or participating in activities with youth, which include physical, outdoor or other active elements.
- Driving is required to attend meetings and to enable contact with youth/families at home or in the community. The worker must have a valid driver's licence and safe, reliable transportation, and must obtain appropriate insurance as per Society policy.
- Two completed, acceptable criminal record checks, one from the Criminal Records Review Program through the Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General and one from the Canadian Criminal Record Search of the RCMP National Repository of Criminal Records, the Canadian Police Information Centre, and the Police Information Portal.
- The program worker will follow the Code of Ethics and the Mission Statement of The John Howard Society of North Island. The program worker will also abide by the relevant rules and regulations and guidelines set out by the Ministry for Children and Family Development.
